

Make your Point

Goals:

Let's get ready to rumble. Being able to defend a point of view with well thought out arguments and evidence is an important skill. Help students master this skill by collecting evidence from their reading and using it to formulate and support their viewpoint. This activity develops critical thinking, presentation and teamwork skills.

Description:

Students are divided into teams and work together to find evidence within the text that supports an assigned viewpoint. Once the evidence is collected, students create a presentation to convince others in the class that their viewpoint is correct. After all the presentations are complete students vote on which viewpoint was most convincing.

Glose Features Used

✓	Highlight
	React
✓	Notes
	Dictionary
	Translation
	Reader Settings
	Reviews
	Quote page
	Statistics

Appropriate for: High school students

